

Diesel Duck® cleans up Red Roo's 1 ½ year old stored diesel

The Problem

Peter Simkins is, in his own words “paranoid about good fuel” so with his vessel Red Roo being laid up for nearly 1.5 years, he knew the diesel wouldn't be in the best of shape and didn't want to run the risk of engine failure due to poor fuel.

Peter visited our offices to talk through the best solution for him.

With 3 tanks on-board, he opted for the flexibility of the Diesel Duck® as it is a fully portable dewatering and fuel cleaning system all contained in a Peli Case.

Testimonial

It was great to sit down with MarShip's Director, Peter Weide to discuss the best options for my fuel management and I was able to take the Diesel Duck with me after my meeting which was particularly convenient.

The Peli Case is perfect for travelling and stowage.

The kit itself is very easy to use and did a great job. I've shown a number of fellow boat owners and they were very impressed.

Even the Yard Manager thought the engine would fail quickly after start up, he was mighty surprised when it turned over and ran sweetly.
