ZULAFLY

ZulaFly means Assurance.

The difference between success and failure sometimes lies within a few degrees of a thermometer. The temperature monitoring feature in ZulaFly's system alerts appropriate people when the Mercury in a cooler or storage area drops above or below desired levels. Critical inventory such as food and medication require constant temperature monitoring. It only takes a few hours for temps to be out of range and you lose everything. ZulaFly gives you confidence knowing abnormal ranges, including humidity levels, can be immediately identified and remedied. It's a system that quickly pays dividends in time saved and inventory protected.

Security for your Environment.
