

Music Artist Management & Research Internship Description

Who - MIC: Music Industry Connected

Where - Virtual, any location - will be connecting with team in Bloomington, IN & Pittsburgh, PA

When - Immediately/TBD (Please indicate in your application)

MIC: Music Industry Connected is seeking interns who are interested in how a musician creates a career in the commercial music industry, independently or with a label. Perfect for aspiring music artists and managers who want to learn precisely how to launch a music career for an already-musical musician (does not cover song-creation process). Open to music/business students, and all other majors.

MIC (“mike”) is an educational consultancy that creates The Mountain approach to simplifying the big picture of a commercial music career, “balancing the art, the business, and the personal.” This internship features projects of field experimentation for its current client roster within The Mountain’s Steps 4-6 Process Manuals. After an introductory period, the intern’s unique career goals will be aligned to next projects in the Artist or the Business Management internship tracks.

This internship is unpaid and applicable for credit; if interested, students can inquire to their career advisors about applying it for credit. Pay opportunities may develop in the long term depending on project involvement.

Required:

- Ability to meet virtually for 1-3 mandatory weekly meetings (vacation is okay with notice)
- High level of responsibility for conducting & delivering weekly independent research assignments, among other tasks - estimated 10-20 hours/week
- Interest in learning, reading, researching, and field experimenting with music business projects in real time
- Strong self-awareness of personal capacity when communicating realistic workload limits & setting personal deadlines (avoiding overpromise-underdeliver situations)
- A Computer & a Smartphone
- A passionate drive
