

Lew Moorman is co-founder of Soilworks Natural Capital, a public benefit corporation focused on the acceleration of regenerative agriculture as a foundational driver of a healthier and more sustainable food system. He is also the co-founder of Scaleworks, a venture equity fund focused on the software as a service sector. He spent much of his career at Rackspace as President, Chief Strategy Officer and Board Director. He got his BA from Duke University and JD from Stanford University.

Photo attached

