Benefits of AutoEntry

Speed

Automation is faster than manual data entry, simple. Try sitting down with a bank statement or an invoice and manually entering the data line by line and you will know how long it takes.

AutoEntry reads your documents, captures the data for you to categorise, and then publishes it through to your accounts software.

When you have set up AutoEntry to its fullest capacity these time savings multiply. Some of the processes can be automated to the point where manual data entry is eliminated completely. The more fine-tuned your instance of AutoEntry is, the faster it becomes.

Accuracy

We are all human. And we are never more human than when we are reading large volumes of data and then manually entering it into accounts software. A decimal point in the wrong place or a dollar amount instead of a pound will make the process very painful and laborious. AutoEntry reads line items for you and so getting the correct data into your accounts software first time will save you a lot of pain as well as a lot of time. The more automated the process, the more accurate it gets.

Security

We have all heard the horror stories where important documents get lost or damaged. Once you have captured your documents and got them into AutoEntry, your documents are safe.

Timeliness

Having accurate information, where you need it and when you need it is hugely important. Having up-to-date accounts throughout the year means that you have a view of the account that is current. This means that issues can present themselves in a timely manner so that the Accountant, Bookkeeper or Business owner can address issues without lengthy delays. Wouldn't you rather know about a problem in February than in November?

The environment

Suppliers posting out invoices and banks printing/posting large bank statements uses up a surprising amount of environmental resources; so not only is manual data entry slow, susceptible to inaccuracies and not secure; it is bad for the environment also. The more automated the process, the greener it gets.

Support

We support everybody. It doesn't matter if you are a customer or just trying the software out, our team will spend time making sure that they answer your question. Our take is that if you are happy with our support, you will stay with us.

Everybody says it, but the AutoEntry team really does pride itself on its customer support. We are very responsive on Chat which is available on every page on the website and within the application, so we are literally there when you need us. We have a Help Centre with lots of videos and articles on demand. We are also quick to respond via phone and email.

What customers say about us?

“Out of my 40 clients I have 15 in the cloud right now and they’re making my life so much easier. I have a handful of clients that I can’t move to the cloud all at once because could overwhelm them.

So, this is how AutoEntry comes into play. Now that it can integrate with both desktop and the cloud, it’s changing my life when dealing with receipts for cloud and non-cloud customers. I don’t manually enter anything anymore.”
