

Want your kids involved in SERVICE this summer? Register NOW to JOIN The Lunch Project's

Why: Summer of Service is an opportunity...

- * For kids to develop empathy by learning about the Maasai culture of East Africa
- * For families to put the values of service and generosity into action
- * For families to rally around a relatable & attainable goal – providing lunches for kids for 9 cents each
- * For empowerment, kids doing what they love to help other kids

When: June--Labor Day weekend – On your own time frame

Who: Elementary and Middle School age kids and their families

What: The Lunch Project supports school lunch programs in Tanzania and empathy education here in Charlotte. Summer of Service teaches kids about Tanzanian culture and connects them with children from vastly different backgrounds and cultures. Creating that connection is an important first step in fostering empathy and cultivating compassion.

Each family asks the questions “What do we love to do? How can we use that for good?” Watch kids become empowered as they design their own service project. Whether through lemonade stands, dog walking, bake sales, sports tournaments, or any one of the many fundraising ideas that kids have come up with, they know that they are making a difference in the world.

How:

1. Register for free at <http://thelunchproject.org/summer-of-service>.
2. Watch three short (3-5 minute) videos from our website as a family to learn more about SOS
3. Plan & execute your family's own kid-led, fun summer service project!
