

Hand Crafted Color Options

Hand-Crafted units are reminiscent of the rock-faced Richardson – Romanesque style which was immensely popular in the 1880's and 1890's. This timeless Old World look is still in demand in today's marketplace. The textured face allows sunlight and shadows to dance across the buildings facade creating an ever-changing, visually-appealing finish, enhancing the character of any structure.

Available in Veneer or Structural size units.

Anchor™ Rockface Finish

Rockface split texture on veneers or structural blocks offers the look of genuine cut stone. Aesthetics, combined with structural integrity, offers infinite design possibilities.
