

PUBLIC NOTICE :

The Loganville Fire Department will put into place an early start to the summer burn ban that goes into effect Thursday, March 26th, 2020. While the summer burn ban does not normally go into effect until May 1, in an effort to limit additional stress to the 911 call center in the coming weeks, and following what was put into place by Gwinnett County, local fire officials decided to go ahead and put the burn ban into effect.

This applies only to residents who live inside the City of Loganville.

Rules and regulations regarding the burn ban can be found at <https://epd.georgia.gov/.../open-burn.../summer-open-burning-ban>
