

Amy's Plays

NEW* Check out the View*

A couple decides to take a “staycation in the New York studio apartment and discover there’s no place like home

NEW* Alexander the Great: In Love and War*

Alexander re-examines his life through his two greatest passions: the conquest of his known world and his lifelong companion, Hephasion.

Premiering in the Evolution Theatre Local Playwrights Festival, June 2016

Blink of an Eye (2016)—Playwright, MITF Spring 2016, New York

Researchers discover a lost spirit in desolate cabin and help her find her way home.

Don't Look Down (2016)—Playwright, Twitter Play Fest,

Strawdog Theatre, Chicago

A 140 character piece on the pitfalls of crossing a grass bridge.

Bobo's Your Uncle (2015)—Playwright/Twitter Play Fest,

Strawdog Theatre, Chicago

A 140 character piece debating dinner with the family or a trip to the zoo.

Model Behavior (2015)—Playwright, Midtown International Theater Festival (MITF), New York, New York

Ten-minute play based on the Swedish department store news story, two mannequins one traditional and the other “real sized” argue their merits in the fashion industry

Somewhere I Can Scream (2015)—Playwright/Director

Van Fleet Theatre, Columbus, OH

This play is based on the real-life 1920s Snook murder trial in which a former Olympic athlete turned college professor went on trial for the death of his co-ed lover

Wait! (2015)—Playwright, Twitter Play Fest,

Strawdog Theatre, Chicago

140 character piece about the fear of being left behind

Home Body (2015)—Playwright/director

Staged reading, S. OH DGA First Thurs. Reading Series,

New Works Lab, OSU

(2014) Playwright/director, staged reading ay MITF, NYC

*Honorable Mention at MITF for Best Script, Concept, and Director

A play about facing family conflict and moving on

Pocketful of Gold (2014)—Playwright/director, MITF, New York

Ten-minute comedy about an Icelandic elf grants an interview to a television reporter and his wife inadvertently reveals his true identity

Crabapple Night: The Stage Play (2014)—Playwright/director, McConnell Art Center, Worthington, Ohio
(2014)—Playwright/director, Columbus Museum of Art, Ohio
Children’s play based on the book by Jan Wahl and Steven Kellogg about a man who goes missing, suspicious neighborhood children, and the family cat who provides comfort during the search

What a Load of Compost! (2014)—playwright/director, ComFest, Ohio
• Finalist in Clintonville Community Market Festival (2015)
This play explains the benefits of organic gardening from the perspective of the vegetables

Shoe Lust (2013) —Playwright/director, MITF Short Play Lab, NYC
Shoes are like a happy couple—it takes two to make a “pair”

Tennis Anyone! (2013) —Playwright/director, MITF Short Play Lab, NYC
Reuniting college friends spark a romance between their young adult children

Ohio Bites Back (2013)—Playwright/director, Strawberry Festival, NYC
(2012)—Playwright/director, Cafe Kerouac, Columbus, OH, Drake Oration Company
Culled from the news, bedbugs take on their human rivals in a hotel room during the weekend of the “big game.”