

Full-Day CPD Inset

An interactive day of learning to launch your new focus

Online | In-person
Approximately 5 hours

Onboard with cognition

Who are the sessions for?

If your school has a new priority and it needs to be launched with a full day of interactive activities to get your staff 'really thinking' then this is for you. Bringing a new T&L focus to the top of an already busy agenda is challenging, we will bring to life your new priorities in practical ways and make sure that everyone knows how to move their ideas forward.

Why should we book a full day of training?

- Engaging presentations focused on your priority areas
- Overviews of the current research and what it means
- Opportunities to plan out the next steps across year groups or departments
- Freedom to explore new approaches (in a friendly environment)

What will my staff get out of the session?

Your colleagues will be facilitated through a collaborative process where they are given space to grapple with cognition and what it means in their classrooms. They will leave with practical evidence-informed ways to move ideas forward.

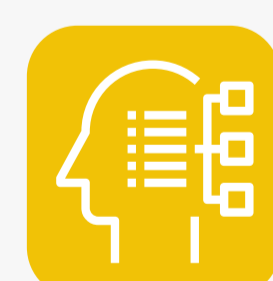

Building a shared vision of teaching and learning

Cognition themes

- Metacognition
- Critical thinking
- Literacy
- Schemas and memory
- Creativity

Curriculum Applications

- Reading comprehension
- Writing
- Knowledge-rich curriculum
- Communication
- Engagement

Raising the profile of cognition