

Find out how to best interact with American teachers!

WAYS TO COLLABORATE WITH MY CHILD'S TEACHER WORKSHOP

This workshop is intended to promote the well-being of caregivers, students and teachers. When families immigrate to the U.S., they may not be familiar with the norms of the school system their children are attending.

How they interacted with their child's teacher in their home country or previous school may not be the most effective way to interact with teachers in their current school. This can be so confusing and frustrating!

Dr. Jenn provides families with an overview of how to connect with their child's teachers and build relationships with them that will help the child thrive. Families will learn how to share hopes for their child, as well as their language and culture. Families will also learn how to ensure the teacher knows that they are interested in helping their child thrive. Think of this as a "code breaker" workshop for families who want to learn how to build healthy home-school relationships.

The length of the workshop can be determined by the sponsoring organization (schools, community groups or churches).

All of Dr. Jenn's workshops are based on the 7 dimensions of well-being (cognitive, social, environmental, emotional, physical, spiritual and financial) and tailored to the needs of the family.
