

Check out some easy-to-use strategies to help your child fall in love with reading

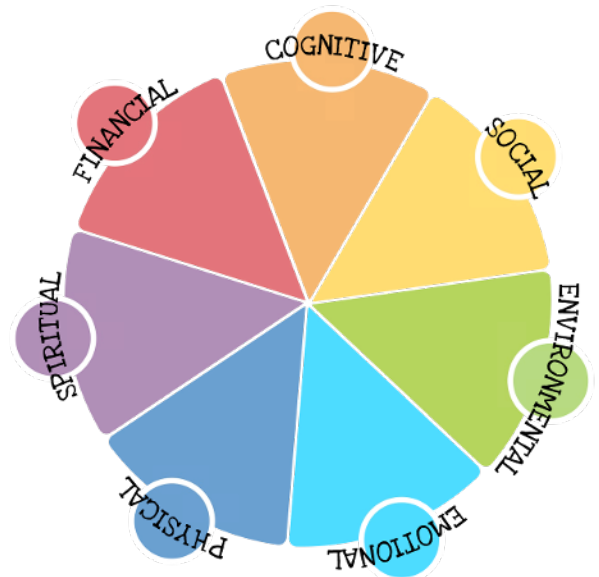

LITERACY ACTIVITIES I CAN DO WITH MY CHILD WORKSHOP

There are so many ways that you can positively influence your child's love of reading. This workshop is geared to families who are struggling to help their children engage with reading and writing. Dr. Jenn's years of experience as a teacher and literacy coach will give you a wide range of activities you can do with your child, or support your child in doing themselves.

Because of how reading and writing are often taught in schools, children may not enjoy these activities and, in fact, may actively avoid them. It doesn't have to be this way! Learn how to bring joy and literacy together, helping your child build a strong foundation for later learning.

This workshop can be tailored to caregivers of children of different ages. For example, one workshop could be held for caregivers of primary-aged children, and another for elementary-aged children, middle school youth or high schoolers.

The length of the workshop can be determined by the sponsoring organization (schools, community groups or churches).

All of Dr. Jenn's workshops are based on the 7 dimensions of well-being (cognitive, social, environmental, emotional, physical, spiritual and financial) and tailored to the needs of the family.
