

What an amazing concert yesterday evening to start this year's festival! The trout swam beautifully through rippling waters and the bounced along joyously.

If you missed hearing the London Conchord Ensemble last night, then you missed a real treat, however, you can still hear them perform this afternoon at 2.30pm at St George's Church, Reynoldston SA3 1AA, or tomorrow evening at 7.30pm at All Saint's Church, Oystermouth SA3 4BZ. Tickets are available either through our website: www.gowerfestival.org, by phoning the Grand Theatre box office (01792 475715) or on the door of the churches from about half-an-hour before the concerts commence. Please note - the road into Reynoldston, through Little Reynoldston, is still closed, so please allow extra time to get to the concert this afternoon!

So tomorrow's concert - the London Conchord Ensemble at All Saints' Church, Oystermouth SA3 4BZ at 7.30pm. They will perform:

Bohuslav Martinu – Nonet No 2 for flute, oboe, clarinet, horn, bassoon, violin, viola, cello and double bass.

Louis Spohr – Nonet in F for flute, oboe, clarinet, horn, bassoon, violin, viola, cello and double bass. Opus 31.

Ludwig Van Beethoven – Septet in Eb for violin, viola, cello, double bass, clarinet, horn and bassoon. Opus 20.

Parking is available in the many car parks in Oystermouth. Again there is very limited parking in the church grounds for those who have a disabled badge. Please email me if you would like us to try to keep you a space, but we cannot guarantee that there will be enough spaces. Those available will be allocated on a 'first come, first served' basis depending on when I receive your email.

Toilets are available in the church annexe.

Cheers will be providing drinks both pre-concert and during the interval.

Today's offering to make you smile is based on the fact that there will be so many musicians performing tomorrow evening, that I can imagine them having to play 'musical chairs'! I hope you enjoy it.
