“Leigh Brown delivers! I asked her to give a leadership presentation that she had to create from scratch, and the result was an off the charts winner. Great information delivered in a refreshingly entertaining and humorous style, and the attendees loved it. Leigh was one of our best received speakers of the past few years, and I definitely would work with her again.”

~ Steve Francks, CAE, RCE - CEO, Washington REALTORS®

Know that your time, efforts and talents are most appreciated!!! Like you, I would hope to see Ethics be a more important highlight of our Professional responsibilities. All too often I come across those who seem to be clueless or just rude and disrespectful. Cheers to a better Professional Respect!”

Effective Leadership: More Than Being “Just the Boss”

Attention leaders! It is time to learn the difference between “reason” and “purpose” to become more effective leaders.

Having trouble finding your next leader? Through this course, leaders will gain a better understanding of what it means to be an active leader and will be better equipped to handle difficult situations as they arise. Nothing can negatively impact a team’s performance like having an ineffective leader, it leads to an underperforming team, unsatisfied clients, and missed opportunities. Effective, confident, and capable leadership can transform an association. Let your team reach their full potential under improved, positive leadership.

- Gain a better understanding of what being an “effective” leader means.
- Identify who you are leading. Can you lead without being controlling?
- Create a cohesive, organized association through effective leadership.

AUDIENCE

- Board of Directors
- State Elected Leadership
- Local Elected Leadership

Focus. Cultivation. And LEGACY.

Nurture a legacy that is relevant, has roots, and will grow!

“Legacy”. A word usually reserved for end-of-life solicitations and bulletins at the funeral home. Also, a word that can haunt us as we consider our own personal clock. We wind up saying “YES” to everything, losing focus and gaining exhaustion with every passing week.

What is our goal? Is there a desired end result? Our legacy may be something that’s not going to appear until that distant, unknown future – but it is developing in the seeds we plant now.

This topic will make you think:

- How do you find the focus?
- What seeds will you plant?
- How will you nurture and cultivate those seed?
