

ILLUMINATION SYSTEMS ACQUIRES DRONE

In an attempt to keep up with Silicon Valley, ISI has acquired a new drone to assist with essential drone-related business, including hovering over employee's desks to monitor work levels and delivering pieces of paper from one side of the office to the other.

Rest assured, Illumination Systems has only the safety of its team in mind and has set all phasers to "stun".

Right: photograph of drone by Eduardofamendes

MILLENNIAL START UP DISRUPTING AN INDUSTRY SHOULD BIG BUSINESS BE ON THE LOOKOUT?

After this headline was written, it was confirmed that these millennials are, in fact, not disrupting an industry. Big business has nothing to worry about and this article has been deleted.

Left: photograph of millennials at ISI

ISI EMPLOYEE SENT TO REHABILITATION EMPLOYEE "IN THE DOGHOUSE" OVER SLANG

Reports state that an ISI employee, who at this time remains anonymous, has been sent to an intensive HR rehabilitation facility after reports of using such names as "pooch" and "mutt" to refer to dogs. ISI has issued a public apology saying:

"At ISI we understand that all dogs are unique and individual and deserve to be treated this way. We hope that through extreme rehabilitation our employee will understand this and approach each dog they meet in the future as a new opportunity."

ISI asks that any dog insulted by an employee at ISI email info@illumsys.com with any details they are willing to share and appreciates your continued support.

ILLUMINATION SYSTEMS TO CLOSE AFTER 81 YEARS IN BUSINESS PEOPLE SHOCKED THAT LIGHTING COMPANY TO CLOSE DOORS ON MARCH 29TH, 2018

Illumination Systems is closing its doors on Thursday, March 29th, 2018..... And will reopen on April 2nd, 2018 at 7:30 am.

We hope you have a wonderful weekend, and a seriously fun April Fool's Day!