

Femi Akinyemi

England

Femi Akinyemi is a Business Consultant, Trainer and Executive Coach with over 15 year's experience of helping chip multi-national companies across multiple industries develop and implement strategies to manage complex change in their organisations. His passion for coaching and training led him to set up Unleashed Academy which has delivered training to thousands of people across the world. His passion for speaking led him to set up the Unleashed Podcast Network which hosts a number of podcasts including You Unleashed; a self-help podcast focused on helping fulfil their potential and The Intentional Career which provides weekly tips and talks on how to maximize your career.

Magdalene Ang

Singapore

Magdalene is a product marketing leader based in Singapore, where she oversees the product strategy for LinkedIn Talent Solutions across Asia Pacific. In this role, she consults and helps companies build a winning edge with talent-first strategies, connecting them with tools and insights that drives results. She holds a wealth of experience having held roles in large multi-national technology corporations and an extensive set of skills: creating and executing strategies, building narratives that move the hearts and minds, as well as full fledge marketing skills covering product, field, content, customer marketing, as well as communications. On a personal side, Magdalene has a passion for adventure. Her philosophy is to see and learn as much of the world as possible before her legs give way. It has taken her to places less-travelled like North Korea, Mongolia, Nepal, South Africa and Peru. In her quest, she has conquered a few personal milestones: From the freezing waters of Lake Baikal in Siberia (the world's largest freshwater lake) to the Atacama Desert in Chile (world's driest place), Gobi Desert (Asia's largest desert), Urumqi, the most inland major city in the world to Bolivia's Salar de Uyuni, the world's largest salt flat, she has plenty of colorful stories in her travel backpack.

Raimond Honig

Netherlands

Raimond Honig MBA is Chief Operating Officer at Masters Group BV. The Masters Group is the umbrella organization behind the Masters in Finance, Masters in IT, Masters in Talents, Masters in HR and Masters Academy labels. They are specialized in secondment of experts in various fields. Raimond is also a (part-time) managing partner at the Credit Management Institute bv in Zoetermeer. Raimond started CMI in 1999 and he also fulfills several advisory positions. Raimond studied training and received his master's degree in business administration cum laude. In addition, he followed all kinds of education and training courses nationally and internationally in the field of development and training, coaching, change management, credit management and debt counseling. He has so far written seven books independently and in co-authorship, of which his penultimate book is a practice-oriented research on working capital. He is currently co-authoring his eighth book: "The Financial as a Business Partner".

Anders Kinding

Sweden

Anders Kinding is an independent senior consultant, focusing on the design and delivery of training and coaching programs for enhancing leadership and management teams. Based in Sweden and Spain. He is the author of six management books, two of which have been awarded the Swedish Human Resource Association's annual "Book of the Year Award". The last one "I don't have time" available in English at the Kindle library at Amazon.

Patricia Morley

Bahamas

Patricia J. Morley is the Senior Manager for Talent Development at the Princess Margaret Hospital in Nassau, Bahamas with responsibilities for Career Counselling, management of its In-Service Training Award Portfolio and the overall Management of its Training Unit. She holds a bachelor's degree in Biological Science, from Benedict College, South Carolina, a master's degree in Education from Nova Southeastern University, Florida and a post graduate certificate in Adult Workforce, Education and Training from the University of The Bahamas, Nassau. She is a certified Project Manager and is currently preparing for the PHRI human resources certification. Patricia currently sits on the Bahamian National Committee for the Training and Supervision of the COVID-19 vaccination (COVAX) Strategic Plan and is responsible for the site monitoring and training implementation. Patricia is an adjunct lecturer and has served on several public and private school and technical institute boards. She is a member of the ATD, and Project Management association. Her focus is to build global relationships that inspires lifelong learning and to use her creativity and business acumen as a resource for building dreams. Patricia loves spending time with her family and cooking, and, her greatest goal is to use her gifts to empower people while living her purpose.

Peter Prabha

Malaysia

Leadership Development Enricher, Empowerment and Executive Coach, Prabha Peter is widely regarded within peers as a gifted thinker and speaker. Having 28 years of Corporate Leadership, Sales and People Engagement experience. Prabha held a Senior Regional Head position for two international corporations. Prabha holds a Degree in Engineering, Diploma in Marketing Counsel of Australia and Master in Business Administration. Currently Candidate Doctorate in Applied Psychology. He is also a Certified Mentor Coach Passport by International Coach Federation, a graduate of Dale Carnegie Institute and Certified under Train the Trainer program. Past Secretary of Asia Pacific Alliance of Coaches (APAC).