Fuel Surcharge Report September 2019

The average UK pump price for diesel was 132.0 pence per litre during August 2019.

In accordance with our fuel surcharge policy, our fuel surcharge will therefore remain at 14.0% with effect from Monday 9 September 2019.

Fuel surcharges have been necessary to cope with fluctuations in the price of diesel and whilst we appreciate that such charges are never welcome, we do try to ensure that our charges are competitive and transparent. We use reliable, trusted sources such as the AA to establish average UK pump prices for fuel and update our website monthly.
