

Elyce Cole

Secretary, Executive Committee (2019-2021)

Elyce joined the New York Center in 2018. As a systems psychodynamic organizational psychologist (and aspiring researcher-practitioner) specializing in group dynamics, group relations is an integral part of her analytic approach to helping teams improve their effectiveness. She holds a Master's degree in Social-Organizational Psychology from Teachers College, Columbia University and a BBA, cum laude, in International Business and Marketing from George Washington University. She is currently enrolled in a postgraduate research program at the University College London in theoretical psychoanalytic studies, while she is training to become a group psychotherapist at the Institute of Group Analysis (London, UK). In association with her professional interests, she is also a member of the International Society for the Psychoanalytic Study of Organizations (ISPSO), the A.K. Rice Institute for the Study of Social Systems, and a mediator-in-training at the New York Peace Institute.
