Teaching evaluations results. Scores are out of a maximum possible score of 5. These results were collected from 6 out of 28 students.

Note: Students are prompted to evaluate their courses when checking their final grades, they rarely evaluate courses prior to this point. The evaluation period is supposed to be available up to five days after their grade becomes available. For the period of Summer 2019 the university set up the end of the evaluation period before grades were available. As a result, the Department of Economics was not able to capture evaluations that were submitted when grades became available.
