

The Dr. Anthony M. Kuchan
Ethics Workshop for Psychologists presents

The Psychology of Hate and Duty to Warn

FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 2020
9:00 AM-4:00 PM
AURORA CONFERENCE CENTER
2920 WEST DAKOTA STREET
MILWAUKEE, WI

AUDIENCE

Psychologists, Graduate Students, Mental Health Professionals
Intermediate-Advanced Instructional Level

WSPP is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. WSPP maintains responsibility for the program and its content. This program earns 6 CE credits for those who complete the program in its entirety.

SCHEDULE

8:45 AM-9:00 AM	Continental Breakfast
9:00 AM-9:15 AM	Welcome & Introductions
9:15 AM-10:30 AM	The Psychology of Divisiveness and Hostility (Part I)
10:30 AM-10:45 AM	Break
10:45 AM-12:00 PM	The Psychology of Divisiveness and Hostility (Part II)
12:00 PM-12:45 PM	Lunch (provided)
12:45 PM-2:30 PM	Duty to Warn
2:30 PM-4:00 PM	Group Discussion, Wrap-Up & Evaluations

FEES

WSPP Students: $15
WSPP Faculty: $20
WSPP Alumni & Other Students: $50
Professionals: $150

Registration and payment must be received by April 20th

Register and pay online at: <https://form.jotform.com/70036290252144>

OR

Submit registration and fee (make check payable to WSPP) via postal mail to:
Hydiza Hassan
9120 West Hampton Ave. #212, Milwaukee WI, 53225

Refund/Cancelation Policy

WSPP must be notified at least 3 business days prior to the workshop to qualify for a refund, less a $20.00 fee

For additional information or special accommodations, please call (414) 464-9777

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

After attending this program, participants will be able to:

- Describe the psychological explanations for increased social divisiveness and bias in general
- Identify ways psychologists can address factors that are contributing to increasing divisiveness at the community level
- Describe steps that they can take to promote greater social cohesion through their own professional and community engagement and presence
- Identify the relevant ethical considerations when exploring and addressing social divisiveness and creating social cohesion
- Summarize the Tarasoff and Schuster cases
- Identify the difficulties in applying the law to clinical practice
- Describe the key components of duty to warn and how to apply them in their practice

PRESENTERS

Bradley P. Allen, Ph.D., J.D.

Dr. Allen has graduate degrees in social psychology, educational psychology and law from Marquette University. He also has a Masters degree in epidemiology from the Medical College of Wisconsin. Dr. Allen has been a licensed psychologist for over 30 years and a licensed attorney for 16 years. His areas of interest include statistics, research methods, psychological measurement and forensics. His most recent publications and professional presentations have been in the area of ethics and sex offenders. Dr. Allen is part of the core faculty at WSPP.

Dawn Pflugradt, Psy.D.

Dr. Dawn Pflugradt received her doctorate in Clinical Psychology in 2008. She received an additional graduate degree from the Medical College of Wisconsin in Clinical Bioethics in 2014. She is currently a Licensed Psychologist in the State of Wisconsin performing forensic and clinical work. She is employed by the Department of Health Services and the Wisconsin Department of Corrections conducting forensic risk evaluations. She also has a private practice and holds a position as an Associate Professor at the Wisconsin School of Professional Psychology, where she teaches Ethics and chairs the Human Research Subjects Committee. Dr. Pflugradt is one of two certified STATIC-99R trainers in the State of Wisconsin and the only certified STABLE/ACUTE trainer in the state. In addition to her clinical and teaching duties, she conducts research and regularly presents at international conferences her research findings related to criminality, risk assessment and treatment of violence.

Benjamin M. Rader, Psy.D.

Dr. Rader is a graduate of the Adler School of Professional Psychology in Chicago, Illinois as well as Capital University in Columbus, Ohio. Currently, Dr. Rader works in the community as a psychologist, psychological consultant, and community educator. He serves as adjunct faculty for Mt. Mary College, is a member of the North American Society for Adlerian Psychology (NASAP), the American Psychological Association (APA), and also serve as the Public Education Coordinator for the Wisconsin Psychological Association (WPA). Scholarly interests include anthropological psychiatry, phenomenology, and the social ecology of human behavior.