

Why You Should have a Qualified Consultant for Canada Immigration

You have decided to immigrate to Canada, have gone through the procedures, and you wish to proceed with your application. The next thing you would have in your mind would be “how to go about it.”

You can go directly to the Canada government website for immigration and follow the procedures on your own. But then why should one opt for a Canada immigration consultant?

1. The Consultant's Experience Makes the Procedure Easy for You.

The consultant who legally registered with the Immigration Consultants of Canada Regulatory Council (ICCRC) will have a vast amount of experience and insider know-how, handling and processing many applications for years, and this will be a significant benefit for you. They know what mistakes could creep into the application process and how to avoid them.

The consultant will know what the right documents are to go with the applications and how each department you will deal with, requires the same.

To be a registered immigration consultant, one has to pass different exams and procure the license. He/she must also annually re-train and secure professional development credits to keep the membership.

The consultant has to continually fulfill the expectations of the council by continuous education, paying high membership fees and insurance to keep the title of the registered Canadian immigration consultant.

The consultant has to follow a code of conduct to retain the title, and all these will help you make sure you get high quality and professional service from the consultant.

The “Registered Canadian Immigration Consultant” is a very responsible position, and he is obliged to give you the best quality of work.

2. The Consultant Help Choose the Right Program for You

When you look at the options available, you might get overwhelmed and find it challenging to choose the right one for you. There are a lot of possible ways you can immigrate to Canada, and there are even a variety of ways to apply for your work visa.

The consultant could help you decide which one suits you the most, and he is right there to answer your questions in a language you understand. This will help you not waste time going to the wrong options and later understanding that was not what you needed.

3. The Consultant Helps You to Submit Your Application in the Most Professional Way.

The immigration process can be a bit complicated and overwhelming for you to handle alone.

The application process is not to be taken lightly as a slight error can be detrimental and cause you to lose time and money. An immigration consultant can help you to prepare and submit your application most professionally.

The consultant will know what the exact right way to submit your application is and he/she will have all the resources ready at his office to help send the application in the most organized way.

There is always a chance that you might not be sure what exactly to write or may leave some columns blank, and this might end up in the rejection of your application, and you will have to start all over again.

You lose your time and money in the bargain. Hiring an immigration consultant saves you from all these events and speeds up the immigration process.

4. The Consultant Helps Communicate with the Canadian Immigration department (IRCC) Effectively.

A registered Canada Immigration consultant would help you in communicating with the Immigration, Refugees, Citizenship Canada (IRCC) on your behalf and eases off your burden of going through this process.

Many candidates might be having difficulties in direct communications due to different reasons like a language barrier or any difficulty in communicating accurately with the government.

Leave this to the consultant, and he/she will help you deal with this process. Keep in mind, the Government of Canada will only allow you to be represented by a licensed consultant or lawyer and will not deal with any other person on your behalf.

5. Personalized Service

The instruction guides on the website may not answer your personalized queries.

The information is general and may not provide a tailor-made service for you.

Your Canadian Immigration Consultant would be your go-to person for all your immigration needs, including helping you settle in Canada.

He/she will have all the knowledge that is necessary for your settlement in Canada and also will have the right connections to help you even after you are in Canada.

He can act as a bridge between you and the IRCC or Provincial Nominee Programs.

With a Registered Canadian Immigration Consultant, you can rest assured that your personal information stays confidential too.

The Canadian immigration consultant is equipped with a thorough knowledge about the immigration rules and how to apply them according to the rules of each program or province.

Just by filling the form, you can apply for your immigration, but it is a risk that you would be taking since a permanent record is created, should your application be rejected. It is always much more challenging to re-apply.

The consultant comes with a fee as any professional does, but considering the pros, hiring an excellent registered consultant and allowing him/her to handle the hassles is far better than you take a chance with probably the most important decision for your future!
