Adolfo Harrison

We've been lucky enough to work with Adolfo Harrison on many occasions and we love that we always get to see fantastic images of our products once the project is complete.

Adolfo is a member of the Society of Garden Designers as well as co-curator of Cityscapes so there is no shortage of interesting projects going on.

Adolfo usually opts for our Corten Steel products. 'We prefer to use natural materials in our gardens that are going to age well. The rust finish in Corten is Iron, one of the world's key minerals and in every cell of our body, and it's presence has that knack of bringing a garden back down to earth, as well as protecting it against the elements.'

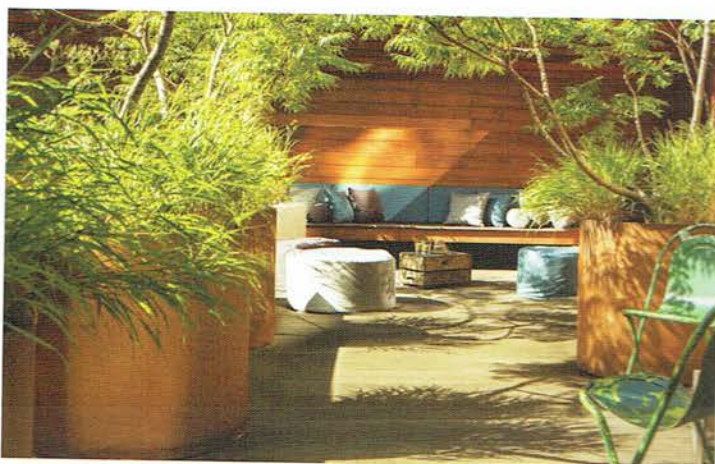

He has used a range of our planters like the Atlas cylinders used below. These large industrial planters create both a rustic and contemporary outdoor space.

He has also incorporated our Corten Steel Water Tables into his designs like this one surrounded by plantlife. Adolfo said 'The easiest and most cost effective way of introducing a water fountain in the garden is one that you manually top up, and this one is the best we have found. It makes maintenance far easier and it even has a light integrated into the fountain. In Corten it can be placed amongst planting and blend in effortlessly.'

As co-curator of Cityscapes alongside Darryl Moore the two have worked closely with the RHS Urban Garden Show. In 2016 and 2017 Adolfo & Darryl visited our warehouse to look for stand out products to create an installation at the show. We provided Corten Steel and Aluminium planters and features that were coupled with lush tropical plants from Arnott & Mason creating a natural yet industrial looking area within the show.
