I hope everyone had a restful winter break, despite the payroll error made toward the end. Hopefully everything was put back into place and made whole again. Starting off this new year I wanted to talk about the values of unionism.

One of the underlying principles I admire, is reflected in this quote attributed to Saul Alinsky:

“Never do for someone that they can do for themselves.”

I’ve heard this adage come up several times over the years I’ve been involved with OMTA and CTA. It’s brought up because of the concern of how we educate, as well as, lift-up our fellow union members, some with many years of experience and others with just a few months of experience. We try and do it through member meetings at each and every site. Our reps hopefully pique interest from time to time with information provided at rep council meetings. We do it through email messaging. Hopefully everyone takes the time to find information from this office, and CTA, by checking the OMTA bulletin board located either in your staff room or lunchroom. You should also be receiving the CTA Educator magazine that also provides information up and down the state, regarding news, new curriculum, legislation, tips, etc. that is all pertinent to you as educators. The CTA and NEA websites also provide valuable information.

Also, over time as you matriculate and build up years of service, you gain valued classroom experience, both personal, as well as collegial, that helps frame your perception, your truths about what public education is, and/or ought to be. Do not take your experience lightly. Your experience is also framed by the context that you were “raised” in. I’ll skip the whole nurture/nature debate.

In a perfect world every teacher knows the contract from cover to cover. Let me know when you stop laughing. I know that statement not to be true. Nor do I ever expect it to be true. I know that every teacher’s main focus is to try to reach and educate every single one of their students. I know time is precious, and there are priorities. Unfortunately, sometimes life intercedes in a variety of ways. There will be times that your practice will be interrupted in some way that you need help and that contract becomes pivotal.

I know that myself and the executive board of OMTA will do everything in our power to help each and every one of you should a contractual issue impact you professionally. Hence this article. Being an Outward Bound graduate, one of our favorite adages is, “You’re only as strong as your weakest link”. I don’t want to sound preachy, but every teacher should know where to access their contract. If you don’t know, you can find it on the OMSD website, as well as the OMTA website. It’s not exciting reading. At some point in time, everyone should sit down and look at what’s inside, because these are exciting times.

I will always go out of my way to help anybody who asks for help. There is one thing I want to ask from each and every one of you though. I want you to access your contract. I won’t go so far as to say that it’s part of your responsibility. It is a big part of my responsibility. However, the contract does outline and define your work day and you should have some knowledge about that. The more knowledgeable we are as a unit, it will benefit us as a unit. As it is said, “Forewarned is forearmed”.

I’m sure a lot of you have been paying attention to the work stoppage in Los Angeles. Some of their issues are very close in nature to our issues. Class size, behavior issues, lack of counselors, lack of nurses, general support, are just some of the issues that United Teachers Los Angeles has that parallel the issues that also affect us here in Ontario-Montclair School District. Knowing our contract enables us to better frame our discussions and concerns professionally and articulately. I, of course, will continue to represent you as best I can, through personal conversation and at board meetings.

However, as stated before, you all have your wealth of experiences in and outside the classroom. You know the needs of your students, you know what good education looks and sounds like, you know what is too much, and you know what is too little. I’ve sat with many of you and heard you loud and clear, and I believe you know how to speak to your ideas, concerns, frustrations, for our students much more eloquently, and passionately than I can. More importantly, If I, or we, don’t take the time to let our administrators and board members know what is working, or isn’t working, within the Ontario Montclair School District, the school district has every reason to believe that things are going well.

For those of you who have taken the time, sacrificed being away from your families to get up and share your stories, I am grateful, and I thank you and your family for adding another piece to the amazing patchwork quilt that is Ontario Montclair School District, and Teachers Association. It is not an easy thing to do to get up in front of a group of your peers and neighbors to tell your stories and speak to your truths. Teaching is one of the most challenging things to do in this day and age. I appreciate everything you do in helping to support the health and well-being of our students and their families in Ontario and Montclair.

A Checkup for our Medical Plan

By: MaryKay Scheid, CSEBA Board of Directors

The healthcare landscape appears to be in a state of constant change. A number of issues impact our insurance providers and, ultimately, us. Revisions to the Affordable Care Act, new approaches to wellness, and changes in providers all affect our benefits. It is sometimes difficult to navigate the system when the rules change, but it’s critical to learn the rules when changes occur.

We secure our medical benefits through a Joint Powers Authority (JPA) called CSEBA (California Schools Employee Benefits Association). The non-profit JPA works with districts throughout California to pool our resources and find the most competitive, benefit-rich plans. In order to ensure the health of our JPA, CSEBA is requiring member districts to conduct a “Dependent Eligibility Verification.” This verification process will happen from February 1-March 15 of this year and then again every three years going forward. The regular verification of dependent eligibility is an industry standard among insurance providers, so changing our JPA wouldn’t eliminate the requirement. But there is no need to panic; the process should be simple and straightforward.

When you elect your benefits during open enrollment, any dependent covered by the plan can be simply rolled over without any documentation. The purpose of the verification process is to ensure all enrolled dependent spouses, registered domestic partners, and children continue to meet the medical health plan’s eligibility rules for coverage. By doing so, we can better control healthcare costs for all of those served by the plan.

Your covered dependents should have a dependent relationship with you that is recognized by the federal government. When your children reach the age of 26, for example, they are no longer eligible. The same is true for an ex-spouse. Employees who cover eligible dependents will need to verify their continued relationship to the dependent. This is necessary because eligibility documents you may have submitted when you initially registered for coverage are NOT retained in your personnel file. To complete the verification process, those who elect 2-party or family coverage will need to complete the following steps:

1. Prepare a Statement of Facts Affidavit, which is available online or via call center
2. Submit verification documents (like a birth certificate or marriage license) to a secure portal

Documents may be uploaded via the secure website, emailed; faxed, or mailed. Please note when “snail-mailing” documents that a postmark date will not meet the deadline requirement. The materials must be RECEIVED no later than 9PM Pacific on March 15.

Such log shall be available for examination by the unit member or their authorized Association representatives under the same conditions as provided in B above.

What Wonderful things are you doing in class?

I would like to initiate something new this year. I would like to visit classrooms, so I can see all the wonderful things that are being taught and accomplished by all your students. If you are comfortable with a visitor and there is something you are excited about that your class is doing, being academic or elective, I would enjoy seeing it! My goal is not to stay long and/or disrupt your teaching; it’s simply to pass along the good word to others. If you’re interested in having me as a visitor, drop me a line; give me a call with at least three dates & times. And most important, notify your administrator that I’m coming.

Thanks, John Egan

P. S. I’ll bring a little something for your students.
January 10th, we saw newly-elected Governor, Gavin Newsom, propose a progressive and multi-faceted budget for the upcoming year that is promising and could initiate a great many positive trends throughout education in the state. I am going to highlight just a few of the items that stuck out in my eyes. Bear in mind, that the budget is not set in stone, as it still needs to make it through the State Legislature.

First, the K-12 Proposition 98 education funding proposal for 2019-20 provides $435 per pupil more 2019-20 than for this year 2018-19.
Governor Newsom has proposed to increase funding for school districts and charted schools (I know) by $2 billion over 2018-19 levels.
The $2 billion increase that is proposed for the coming year is about two-thirds of the amount of new LCFF (Local Control Funding Formula) money that was provided in 2018-19.
The Governor’s proposed budget includes funding COLA (Cost-of Living Adjustment), which is set at 3.46%, and growth for select categorical programs which are kept outside the LCFF. These stand-alone categoricals are: Special Education, Child Nutrition, Foster Youth, the Mandates Block Grant, State Preschool, American Indian Education Centers, and the American Indian Early Childhood Education Program.

There is proposed a one-time $3 billion (non-Proposition 98) allocation to partially “buy-down” employer contributions.
As well, proposing the state making a direct contribution of $2.9 billion over four years to paydown the CalSTRS unfunded liability, and $3 billion to CalPERS.
There is a proposal of a $20.2 million increase for County Offices of Education to provide technical assistance to LEA (Local Education Agencies) and improve student outcomes.
In Special Education, a proposal of $576 million ($186 million is one-time funding) to support expanded services and school readiness supports at LEAs with high percentages of both students with disabilities and unduplicated students.
State Preschool is proposed to receive $26.8 million to fund the full-year costs of 2,959 full-day slots implemented part-way through the year in 2018-19.

Time will tell how this will all play out as the budget is presented, reviewed, and edited; then makes it way out of the state and down to the county and the Local Education Associations. OMTA, and I hope you all as well, will take an interest in how our district chooses to use these funds as they are presented at board meetings, LCAP meetings and surveys, and your respective school site councils.
