

Self-Expression Friday

Your self-expression challenge today will be to...

1. Do something similar to what you observed during the week that connects you and your community

OR

2. Come up with your own way to show the world around you you care...

The sky is the limit! Time to put that creative brain to work!