

Sol Flower Dispensary Receives 710 Degree Cup Honors in Nonsolvent Category

PHOENIX, Aug. 06, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Sol Flower, a mixed-use dispensary brand, today announced its Sol Flower Jenny Kush received third place honors in the nonsolvent category at the 5th Annual 710 Degree Cup.

Sol Flower has two Arizona locations including a public-facing café and wellness classroom in Sun City and a dispensary-only location in Tempe. This is the first award for the brand's Jenny Kush house concentrate. In addition to nonsolvents, Sol Flower also carries house batter, wax, and shatter products.

The 710 Degree Cup is part of the annual ERRL Cup awards and festival series created to help patients receive safe access to clean and consistent medicine in Arizona. The ERRL Cup recognized dispensaries across 31 different categories.

Sol Flower was established in 2019 by Copperstate Farms Management, LLC, a vertically integrated cannabis company based in Arizona. Copperstate Farms is home to the largest indoor cannabis facility in the U.S. with 40 acres under glass and currently has 50 medical cannabis strains in development and 50 in production.

"It's a testament to our growers, processors and entire greenhouse team that we were recognized this year for the newly launched Jenny Kush nonsolvent. This accolade affirms our commitment to providing top-quality medicine to Arizona patients," stated Copperstate Farms CEO Pankaj Talwar.
