

Contact: Gary Porter
Communications Manager
724-222-8530 ext. 236
84 West Wheeling St.
Washington, PA 15301

April 24, 2020

The Clarks Facebook Live concert with Scott Blasey, benefiting City Mission

On Saturday, April 25, Scott Blasey, lead singer of local rock band, The Clarks, will be performing the first in a series of live online concerts over the next two weeks to benefit City Mission. Saturday's live session will begin at 8pm on The Clarks Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/theclarks>.

Blasey has been performing and recording live sessions from his basement for several weeks, with proceeds going to support local nonprofits. The live sessions attract thousands of viewers from all over the country.

The singer/songwriter has been putting on these shows to bring hope and joy to people during these trying times. In one of his recent live sessions, he expressed, "I do these shows with my heart filled with joy and love and unity, and I want us all to come together in these difficult times."

Blasey and his family have volunteered at City Mission, serving meals and singing for the residents during meal times, bringing joy and excitement to people, many who are going through very hard times in their lives. He saw firsthand the lives that are being changed at the Mission and the enormous task that still lies ahead.

"Our family feels very strongly about the positive work the City Mission does in our community," said Blasey. "We look forward every year to being a part of the Thanksgiving meal festivities and are excited about this opportunity to help the mission even further."

Blasey and The Clarks will be performing live sessions to benefit City Mission on Saturday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights over the next two weeks.

For those interested in helping Scott raise funds for City Mission, the link to donate on the concert's behalf is <http://ow.ly/Ofpx50zmACF> .

About City Mission: For over 75 years, City Mission has sheltered, healed, and restored the homeless to independent living—without discrimination. City Mission's comprehensive program addresses both short-term needs like food and shelter, and long-term needs, including drug and alcohol counseling, mental health and medical treatment, legal aid, and employment training. City Mission's goal is to help each man, woman, mother with children, or veteran who walks through our doors to become a healthy, productive member of society. With your help, we can help our residents renew their lives.