Professional Development Program

Professional Development Program

Why choose us?

Our engagement process begins with executive testing using leading-edge assessment instruments to assist individuals in identifying appropriate career options. We will help the individual create or revise both their personal and professional narratives, a reviewed and enhanced Curriculum vitae outlining their key accomplishments, a revamped professional biography, reference evaluation, and an employment engagement plan.

Our services are customized and tailored to meet the needs and circumstances of each client with the goal of personal satisfaction for each individual that embarks upon a new and successful transition.

Our process includes:

- Executive testing to identifying new career path options
- Identifying and documenting an individual's transferable skill sets, experience, education, and accomplishments
- Creating a new executive profile aligning their skill sets, experience, education, and accomplishments with their new chosen career path
- Identifying gaps to be filled by additional training and support of that training
- Assisting in the preparation and execution of an employment engagement plan
- Providing one-on-one mentoring and coaching support to build, grow, and re-establish personal confidence in the re-orientation and pursuit of their new career path.

Our Services

Executive Business Mentoring

Recommended for individuals who seek to advance in their professional careers as industry leaders. This program will optimize your performance while maintaining work-life balance.

Government Service Advancement*

Designed and recommended for public servants who are seeking to advance their career within their home organization, or desire to move across different government departments to enhance their career experience, or for individuals who might want to work post-retirement.

Public Sector Transitioning*

Recommended for individuals who are transitioning from elected office, political appointments, or senior political staff positions and are looking to establish a new career path.

Public Security & Veterans*

Designed and recommended for soon to be retiring public security, police and military officers who have served Canada for many years, and now desire to reposition their career skills and experience in the private sector or other government employment opportunities.

Individuals who have completed our five-step Professional Development program report significant increases in personal productivity and overall performance. Our corporate, public sector, government, and public security clients also report measurable benefits such as increased profitability, productivity, and realigned personal career satisfaction.
