Register before 12th January!

Future Builders - the Bouwend Nederland community for everyone who is or wants to become someone in the construction industry - and Futurepreneurs Dutch Open are organising the Future Builders Challenge. A challenge and start-up course in one, starting from 19th January 2022. Made for students who want to make an impact in the built environment. The winners will receive six months of coaching from Pure Birds and WorldStartup. A dream start for your start-up.

Future Builders Challenge

During the Future Builders Challenge you will work on challenges of the future. How do you create living spaces in existing buildings? How do we turn waste into new building materials? In what kind of home do we keep dry feet during floods? How are we going to build and live with nature and agricultural crops? How can we build better and cheaper but with less people? How to make buildings energy-positive? Issues that are important for construction and society today and tomorrow. And your opportunity to make a difference and kickstart your future.

With your own idea or team, or with ours

Participation is free of charge. The only two conditions are; the case you work on must have impact on the built environment and you are a student. Everything is possible. It doesn't matter what you study, you can come up with your own challenge or get started with an issue from Future Builders. You can register with your own team or let us assign you to a team.

Support from the big shots

The Future Builders Challenge is an initiative of Future Builders and Futurepreneurs Dutch Open, the kick-starter for sustainable start-ups. And that gives you an advantage. Through this community and Bouwend Nederland, i.e., you gain access to a great network. And the top entrepreneurs from Futurepreneurs provide 7 great (online) workshops, from purpose to prototyping, and from project launch to pitching. You don't want to miss that! That is, if you want to become as successful as previous participants in the program.

Register now!

Participating in this Future Builders Challenge competition is free of charge and will bring you will a lot of knowledge, new ideas and contacts. You will go through a three-month training course given by successful start-up entrepreneurs. And if you win, you get an extra six months of coaching towards your own start-up. So register now at futurepreneurs.world. Registration closes on January 12th, 2022.
