What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that store information. We, or other parties, place these text files on your computer or mobile device. For example, in your next visit, we are able to read your preferences or login details in the text file. This means that you do not have to indicate your preferences again and we can make the website more user-friendly. Under the heading "Cookies Overview" you will see which cookies we place and what they are used for.

Overview cookies:

Functional necessary cookies

We place functional cookies to make our website work well. No permission is required for placing these cookies. This concerns cookies that make sure preferences are saved, information is remembered when you go to another subpage, logins are stored, the website is displayed properly, it is remembered if you have given permission to post cookies, the shopping cart is working and our website can be optimized.

Analytical cookies

We continuously improve our website by analysing how you use our website, how you found us and where there are any bottlenecks. Cookies are placed by Google Analytics and Drift.

Ad cookies

To ensure you do not see the same ad every time, offers match your interests, we know how many visitors click on an ad and how many people eventually make a purchase cookies are placed by Facebook and LinkedIn.

Social media cookies

To share content from our website on social media, Facebook, SoundCloud and Spotify will place cookies.

We do not store cookies longer than required by law and not longer than is strictly necessary for carrying out the purposes.

If other parties place cookies, their privacy statement applies. This may change in the meantime. The current privacy statement can be found on the website of the party concerned:
