

Brain Bump

FOR CONTENT
CREATORS

Brain Bump is a new patent pending app to help podcasters, authors, bloggers, and speakers better connect with their audience. People forget most of what they read in a book within a week or two of finishing it. They forget what they heard in a podcast or see on a blog within hours. Brain Bump helps users better retain the information they learn and find new content.

As a content creator you want people to remember you and your message to know, like, and trust your brand. Brain Bump puts you right in the pocket of your audience.

Brain Bump is completely free, collects no information, and has no advertising

Unlike social media, which requires you to continually generate new content, Brain Bump is one and done; your content gets surfaced every day with no additional effort. It comes with tools to let your audience easily access, retain, and share your content all within seconds. It provides you with metrics to see your engagement. Unlike social media we don't optimize for time on app, we want to drive users to your content, including back catalog content breathing new life into old content.

Email contact@cognoscomedia.com to learn more about getting your content on the app.

Click the buttons to scan the QR code to check out the app.

