

BIOGRAPHY

Naomi Steinberg is a gifted artist and storyteller. She has over 20 years' experience performing traditional folk and fairytales and delivering workshops with diverse communities. With a repertoire of over 100 stories she can cater to any theme.

In 2015 Naomi voyaged around the Earth without taking an airplane. She told her hand-spun story, Goosefeather, wherever she went, and in June 2020 self-published a book about the experience: www.goosefeather.ca

Naomi believes that to work deeply with a story is to embark on a journey of discovery and play. Her new website is under development so for a bit more about her work as an artist, please refer to:

<https://www.facebook.com/sheisNEPS>

FOR THE FESTIVAL, PLEASE CHOOSE FROM THE FOLLOWING OFFERINGS

> Traditional Storytelling (for adults): If you have ever thought that a story would bring a delicious flight of fancy to your dinner party, or imagined that folk 'n' fairytales could be a good addition to your community event, then book Naomi for a show!

> Children's Storytelling: Geared to younger audiences, adults will also enjoy a folk tale from old tradition... or maybe even three!

> Goosefeather: Once Upon a Cartographic Adventure - book reading plus show 'n' tell

A candid and compassionate travelogue and memoir, Goosefeather: Once Upon a Cartographic Adventure shares the ups and downs of an extraordinary year of global travel.