

PRIVACY POLICY

Sensitive data we are collecting:

- Voice samples, cough and breath sounds
- Some medical history questions
- Some demographics (age, gender)

No further personal information will be collected. The data will be transmitted encrypted to the server. We will not collect identifiers which allow us to identify the user. The web-app displays a consent screen, where we ask the user permission to use the data. The data will be used by researchers in the team to understand the relationship of the COVID-19 disease with voice and sounds.

Data may be preprocessed and shared more widely with the research community at a later stage. Incidental findings will not be fed back to participants or other parties. Users can leave the web-app at any time. Participants must be 16 years or older. Users can request that their data is deleted at any time by contacting us at voicemed2020@gmail.com and quoting the ID that appears in the last screen of the app.

The web-app won't offer any medical advice and it only collect data for research.