ShareTek Acquires Bridge Startups

Bay Area Based Bridge Startups acquired in cash and stock deal finalized.

Scottsdale, Arizona. ShareTek an innovative startup focused on the behavioral health and criminal justice market with software and hardware solutions has acquired Bridge Startups. Bridge Startups provides distinct advantages for clients with extensive experience in design, development, engineering, and manufacturing. The official announcement was made January 25th, 2021. This acquisition allows ShareTek to develop complimentary hardware solutions that support the platforms technology roadmap.

“We have been engaged with Bridge Startups for over 12 months for support on one our yet to be released products and have been so impressed with the team, we felt this was the next logical step to grow our business. We are thrilled to have such deep product experience join our executive team to support our continued rapid growth.” said Steve Moak Jr. CEO/Founder.

The acquisition of Bridge Startups fits into ShareTek’ s strategy and mission to create innovative solutions to common challenges in these underserved verticals. By acquiring Bridge Startups, ShareTek immediately creates a presence in Silicon Valley that will expedite the current products under development and allow access to a wealth of talent in the Bay area.

About ShareTek

ShareTek was founded in 2019 to promote shared responsibility, shared capacity and shared outcomes for next-generation client engagement, coordinated care, and innovative drug and alcohol testing solutions. It's virtual, Coordinated Care Platform and DNA Confirmed Drug and Alcohol Solution breaks down the silos of client data that are common among industries such as healthcare, human services and criminal justice, effortlessly connecting all support care team members of vulnerable/at-risk populations for improved outcomes. The platform seamlessly integrates with existing systems, providing a modern, mobile solution for all support team members to stay in-sync throughout the client's healthcare journey and deliver personalized, truly coordinated care.
