

SOUND ENGINEERING

Let's start creating the soundtrack to your life. It's time to turn your passion for music into your career and we're here to help you push 'Play'.

At Oakfields College, you will study under seasoned instructors with industry experience who know what it takes to succeed in an industry where precision and professionalism are vital.

During your two years studying sound engineering at Oakfields College, you will be taught on multi-platform software such as Cubase, ProTools and Adobe Premiere. Our on-campus recording studios ensure that you gain a wealth of experience and become comfortable with the recording environment. There is also a full-time sound engineer on campus to help you with any questions and to give advice on anything you are working on. You will learn how to record an album and then edit, mix and master the recording session. You will also learn to set up your own recording studio as well as work within the live sound environment.

The diverse range of subjects included in this course gives you the ability and skills to work in a multitude of aspects of sound engineering, enabling you to pursue and specialise in the area where your personal passions lie.

On completion of the first year Further Education and Training Certificate in Music Industry – Sound Technology, you will have the option to continue with the second year National Certificate in Music Industry – Sound Technology.
