About Gamepath Experience:

Gamepath Experience is a new production entity, based in London, dedicated to live, experiential gameplay entertainment. Gamepath has partnered with some of the largest brands in the world, to bring to life household intellectual property and produce first class immersive productions in the major markets across the world.

Gamepath's work encapsulates the best of escape rooms, combined with immersive theatrical magic, and innovative translations of much-loved titles in Covid-secure venues in London and beyond. Gamepath's first production to launch in London this year in August is 'Monopoly: Lifesized' in collaboration with HASBRO, along with numerous productions in development for 2022, including other major iconic titles across the gaming and cinematic genres. This is an exceptionally exciting time to delve into this booming sector, as the gaming industry in the UK is projected to be worth an estimated £23bn by 2023, and the global tabletop board games market projected to be worth more than $12bn by the same year. Responding to the increased demand by consumers looking for alternative forms of entertainment, specifically different ways of experiencing classic board & digital games, and iconic film and TV brands, Gamepath will bring new audiences for live entertainment from the growing gaming sector, with a unique fusion of theatrical storytelling, thrilling gameplay and global brands.

The Finance Director is a pivotal role in launching Gamepath's first production and developing the business as it inevitably grows with the exponentially expanding portfolio of new productions and international opportunities. The Gamepath team will consist of: CEO, Operations Director, Head of Development, Development Producer and Executive Producer, therefore the Finance Director will need to be highly experienced and self-sufficient to ensure smooth and efficient financial operations of a growing company with a reasonably small team. The Finance Director will work strategically and focus on the larger financial business needs for Gamepath Experience. The Finance Director will need to confidently handle the multi-faceted function of the business, and execute all elements in a timely, accurate and reliable manner, delegating and managing the workload for themselves and their team.

This is an extremely exciting role for an experienced Finance Director to join the company at its launch, and be a key part of the company's future growth and achievement. Working in amalgamation with the Operations Director and CEO, the Finance Director will be empowered to significantly contribute to further personal and company success.

Purpose & Responsibilities of the Role:

The following section is intended to list the key competencies and responsibilities of the role, but is not intended to be exhaustive. It is anticipated that additional responsibilities will develop over time, and that the scope of the role may be expanded by agreement with the CEO.

Key Responsibilities

Given that Gamepath Experience is a reasonably new company, the Finance Director will be expected to accurately collate and store financial information and data, in order to provide analysis and forecasts or trends and growth.

The Finance Director will develop, maintain and improve financial procedures and good governance to provide ongoing visibility, profitability and to ensure robust financial controls are in place, for a secure financial future.

The Finance Director will be responsible for the preparation of management and annual accounts, business analysis and management report information, contributing financial information to business plans and proposals – maintaining close links and a strong working relationship with the Operations Director and Development Producer to ensure appropriate and timely provision of management information and close management of individual budgets.

The Finance Director will ideally be a qualified accountant, or have an appropriate accountancy qualification.
