

Elizabeth Crocker

Liz Crocker is a program associate for the American Association for the Advancement of Science Center for Public Engagement with Science and Technology.

Liz supports the AAAS IF/THEN Ambassadors project, facilitates Communicating Science workshops and supports other center programs. She has a Ph.D. in anthropology (Boston University) and a MA in anthropology (Louisiana

State University). Alongside her doctoral work, she was the research assistant to the director for Boston University's Emerging Media Studies. She was also the Communications Director for March for Science Boston. In her free time, she helps run the largest forum for science discussion on the internet.

Liz is an active collaborator on Building Bridges and is a seasoned program facilitator. Liz has contributed to numerous sessions, including the program hosted by the National Academy of Sciences in 2019.