

MAD KEYS

Mad Keys is a multi-instrumental, alternative hip-hop music producer from St. Louis, MO. Keys began his musical journey early, learning to play classical violin at age 9 and becoming self-taught on piano at 15. He developed an admiration for hip-hop & jazz, and pulled inspiration from the likes of J. Dilla & Amahd Jamal as he learned music production. Keys' soul-filled sound is paired with unquantized rhythms and lush, melodic instrumentation which can be heard in his music, including his latest release "A Work in Progress."

In addition to collaborative projects with several rising artists in his hometown of St. Louis, his most recent works include music production credits for brands like New Balance x Bricks & Woods, Grazia Magazine, ViacomCBS, and Instagram.

As he navigates through his music journey, Mad Keys continues to share his sound while boundlessly pushing his creativity forward.
