Angel is a shy tween who is a people-pleaser and a bit of a homebody. Home is a haven, with her brilliant parents and her kitty. Angel's true friend, Charlie is the best bestie one could ever hope for and they are different but complementary. Everything is just as it should be. One day, her parents must go to a conference, and her wacky uncle Toby comes to stay. On her way home, something odd happens: Angel trips, bracing herself for a rough landing, but instead finds herself floating in a beautiful soap bubble. When the bubble pops, leaving Angel dazed on the ground, she finds a beautiful golden watch next to her. It is not long before Angel discovers that the watch is very special: it makes all her wishes come true! Although she's tried to keep her new "powers" a secret, she can't help herself. Soon, the whole class knows. Looking to use the watch for good, Angel is very generous with gifts. Angel starts to gain a different kind of confidence, starts feeling like a different person, entirely. She and Charlie fall out and soon Angel's whole life gets so much more complicated. When Angel is powerfully popular, can she make good choices and will her new life truly make her happy?
