Allianz Risk Consulting

Allianz

Allianz Risk Consulting (ARC) has an enviable track record of providing clients with sophisticated risk consulting services by adopting recognised international risk engineering standards coupled with practical industry knowledge and experience, to reduce our client's property business risk exposures. One of our principals is based on continuous improvement and we listen to our client's feedback. We also recognise the benefit of investing in long term partnerships and the need to work smarter, be more efficient and implement innovative state of the art risk improvement solutions for the benefit of our clients.

For ARC to remain as the leading force in our field, simply delivering and repeating the same risk consulting message to our clients 'year on year' in today's rapidly advancing industrial landscape is simply not an option. Therefore after completing a thorough in-depth 'First Survey', which allows ARC to understand the essentials of your business and risk exposures, we propose that future risk consulting visits or projects should focus on value driven risk solutions tailored to your site specific risk requirements and aligned with your corporate risk strategy.

Your ARC account engineer will assess your risk profile and undertake an annual 'Strategy Review', allowing you to work in partnership with ARC to decide on the best risk management programme and approach targeted to deliver tailor made value driven risk management solutions in line with your priorities and timeframe. Examples of the type of risk consulting services which may be of interest include:

ARC invites you to join our journey and adopt this smart and focussed risk consulting approach, and in response we commit to assist you in achieving an optimal return on risk management investment together with informed customised risk solutions.
