BUILDING-UP

He is a footballer with a great capacity to build-up from the back on the ground. He does it frequently, both by driving the ball forward and making through the line passes. He could be a keep player for teams which prefers to begin the play from the back, combining with precise passes to his teammates.

LONG PASS

His accuracy for a long pass is something not often for a regular centre back. He has an excellent delivery to activate the direct play. When he has the ball, his teammates have the opportunity of looking for either easy-control passes or attacking into space. He is unpredictable.

COVERAGES

He is a solid defender. He understands his positional role well, even though he is capable of driving the ball forward. He goes to his position quickly and returns to the coverage well, in order to relay teammates. He can either tackle the rival when his teammate has been overpassed or relay the centre-back or fullback after losing an individual duel.

TACTICAL ANALYSIS

AERIAL PLAY

For his age, he has great physical characteristics that helps him to win aerial duels. Due to his height (1.84cm), he is a footballer who jumps high and wins many aerial duels. He is important to win lateral crosses and set pieces (offensives and defensives).

LEADERSHIP

He is in charge of every team's beginning of play. He is also the centre-back who stays the more to organize the defense. It is really to have a player like that in youth categories, in order to organize the play and being the leader on the field. In addition, he is active enough to ask for the ball and pass around the initial third.

SHOOTING

His shooting technique is so good. We already explained how good he is for long passes, but it goes further. His shots are strong and accurate. Due to this skill, he is capable of taking on set pieces, being a tool to score. He has made it even in international tournaments, standing out in this aspect of the play.
