

Guide: overview of resource creation

This is a general overview of the process to create and submit a resource.

Overall process

The overall process is simple. Decide whether you want to make a lesson or a question, check availability and then gather the information you need to start creating.

What information will I need?

The general pattern is the same for all resources.

Template

Formatting guidelines

Specific creation guide (e.g for making a lesson or a UCAT question)

What are the exceptions?

If you are making a lesson you will also need a few other things – but that is covered in the specific lesson creation guide!

This guide will go through each of these steps in turn.

Choose

At this stage there is a large amount of resource creation on offer. We need both lessons and questions to fill them and our online question bank in he future.

We prioritise this according to the area of the curriculum we are building.

Check availability

There are two ways to check availability.

Method one: on the general tutor drive go to the 'create' folder and view the spreadsheet for either question or lesson availability.

Method two: on the tutor portal go to the 'create' tab and follow the links for question or lesson availability (only part of page shown)

Create

Step one: if you are making a lesson then place your name in the correct column for the lesson you have chosen.

We need multiple questions in each area so no need to put you name in a column on the question availability spreadsheet!

Step two: prepare what you need

All the templates and guides you will need are on the 'create' area of the tutor portal

Step three: work your magic!

Step four: check that your resource matches the formatting guidelines and if a lesson – it must match the learning outcomes.

Submit

Think of this step as check and commit.

Check: look over the resource for spelling/formatting and whether it matches the guidance provided.

Commit: submit your resource on the tutor portal!

We will review these resources as soon as possible and if needed, send you feedback about edits to make before it can be accepted and incorporated into the Mission Medicine curriculum.

Acceptance

When a resource is accepted we will let you know! This information will be stored ready for payment and future certification.
