ART IN OCEANA BAL HARBOUR

Art will be at the heart of Oceana Bal Harbour, from the design and landscaping to the art pieces living on site. Jeff Koons, American Artist who is well known for his balloon dogs and tulips, is our artist in Residence. He has recently become the most valued living American artist after one of his pieces sold for $58.4M. We have purchased two masterpieces from Koons, the first being “Pluto and Proserpina” an impactful 11 foot tall sculpture that will greet you in the center breezeway of the building. This piece will be traveling to the Whitney Museum in New York for a year-long display and from there it will go to the Centre Pompidou in Paris 2015. In March 2016 “Pluto and Proserpina” will come to Oceana to be permanently placed in the breezeway. The second piece “Ballerina” is a beautiful 7 foot tall sculpture and will be placed between the two pools on the east side of the building.

Both Jeff Koons sculptures and the artwork in the lobbies will belong to Oceana’s residents.

DEVELOPMENT TEAM

THE DEVELOPER

Consultatio: Lead Eduardo Costantini, has over 30 years of experience in the development of high-end, luxury real estate first in Argentina & Uruguay and now here in the USA. Consultatio has built some of the most prestigious buildings in Buenos Aires, residential and commercial. Most notorious is the master-planned city of Nordelta, with a current population of over 30,000 people. An all equipped city catered to a high-end and very exclusive market. Other prominent projects include Las Catalinas and Alem Office Towers and the Grand Bourg residential tower, all centered in Buenos Aires.

Eduardo Costantini; founder, President and Senior Partner of Consultatio is an avid art collector, who founded MALBA (Museo Arte Latinoamericano Buenos Aires) which holds one of the largest Latin-American Art collections in the world. He pours his passion for Art into every project he undertakes; his use of art creates a distinctive signature on each project
