How Homeless Veterans Are Unique

Veterans are 50% more likely to become homeless than other Americans due to poverty, lack of a support network, social isolation, and dismal living conditions in over-crowded, substandard housing.

On any given night, there are 76,000 homeless veterans sleeping on the streets of America.

Homeless veterans experience homelessness longer than their non-veteran peers; with an average of nearly six years homeless vs. four years as reported by non-veteran homeless individuals.

96% of homeless veterans are single males from poor, disadvantaged communities.

53% of homeless veterans have disabilities, compared with 41% of homeless non-veteran individuals.

Half suffer from mental illness and two-thirds suffer from substance abuse problems.

The Veteran's Administration reaches only 20% of veterans in need.
