People are searching for more artificial intelligence (AI) related jobs in India. AI related job searches on job portal Indeed.com have increased by 106% between June 2019 and June 2020 and by 20% from March to July, the company reported.

Python, TensorFlow and Natural Language Processing (NLP) were among the top in-demand AI related skills.

After the covid-19 outbreak and the disruption of business reported in various sectors, companies are scrambling for AI-led technologies to reduce dependence on manual processes, achieve operational efficiency and improve customer experience.

According to a recent EY survey, published in September, 60% of the business leaders in India believe that AI will disrupt their businesses within three years.

Spending on AI is expected to grow from $1,176.6 million in 2019 to $11,781.9 million by 2025, according to a ResearchAndMarkets report published in January.
