

Continue and Begin Fast Coaching® for Work and Life

Continue & Begin Fast Coaching® is a personal development framework which helps individuals and groups grow skills and competences to achieve their personal development ambitions by creating rapid change in personal behaviour. It enhances self-worth and stimulates personal belief in opportunity and possibility.

Continue & Begin Fast Coaching® was developed by Nick Drake-Knight, an internationally acclaimed coach, motivational speaker and author. It has proved to be remarkably effective and is now used as the preferred people development model in a diverse range of environments including, business, education establishments, healthcare operations and family contexts. It can be used to help children at school, or to develop an employee's skills in the workplace, to encourage an individual's healthy living and wellbeing or to support families in need of a helping hand. It has no boundaries for its application.

New Code Continue & Begin Fast Coaching® is the latest development of this powerful coaching method. It is simple to master and easy to implement. By following a specific flow of questions, carefully selected for their impact, a new Continue & Begin® practitioner can achieve impressive coaching results for individuals and groups at work, at home and in the community. The process is fast and it makes people feel good.

This one-day certification programme will be delivered by Zoryna O'Donnell, a Licensed Trainer of New Code Continue & Begin Fast Coaching®.
