

ESS Patent Portfolio

(9/24/2021)

Granted Patents:

To date, ESS has been awarded the following 14 patents claiming the H.E.L.P.[™] (Hazard Enhanced Location Protocol) system:

• US 9,481,331	• JP 6523320
• US 9,616,810	• KR 10-1925526
• US 10,870,390	• KR 10-2070857
• US 11,094,924	• AU 2016262723
• EP 3,177,484	• AU 2018205070
• CN 106852137	• AU 2019226226
• CN 110949242	• CA 2,942,926

These patents claim one or more of the following aspects of the H.E.L.P.[™] system:

- A system that implements high flash rate patterns to existing vehicle hazard lights for both new vehicles at the production stage and existing vehicles that have upgrade capability;
- A system that adds high flash rate patterns to existing vehicle lights as well as auxiliary lights and uses a decision circuit to determine when the auxiliary light will display the high flash rate pattern or another pattern;
- A vehicle lighting system that uses a microcontroller to receive an input from a vehicle safety system and implements a high flash rate pattern to vehicle signal lights upon receipt of the input from the vehicle safety system; and
- A system that includes first and second strobing light modules and microcontrollers connect to each other that flash their respective lights at a high flash rate pattern simultaneously upon receiving an input from each other.

Pending Patent Applications:

In addition to the above-listed, granted patents, ESS has the following 38 patent applications pending that claim these and other features of the H.E.L.P.[™] system.
