About us

GOOMEO was founded in France in July 2010 by serial entrepreneurs Franck Auzanneau and Ludovic Mingot who saw a gap in today's market for a unified remote selling solution that would address the growing need for virtual and contactless selling.

The company's mission is to develop a technology platform that is specifically tailored to support a remote salesperson's need for an easy to understand and easy to use selling solution. Verticals has been designed with the active participation of sales experts from around the world making it a solution - built for salespeople by salespeople.

Pioneering technology solutions for remote selling, Verticals is a one-of-a-kind, easy to use sales solution that provides the tools a salesperson needs to sell remotely from a unified platform. By extending the trusted, personalised sales environment remotely, Verticals helps sales teams engage with customers in a unique way, reducing sales cycles and growing sustainable revenue and profitability.
