

Lynn Webster, M.D. Joins PainScript as Chief Medical Officer

Commercial Launch of PainScript Platform Commences

New York, NY/ ACCESSWIRE – August 10, 2021 – PainScript, a member of the Optimus Healthcare Services, Inc. (OTC: OHCS) family of healthcare companies, announced today the appointment of Lynn Webster, M.D., F.A.C.P.M., F.A.S.A.M. to the post of Chief Medical Officer. Dr. Webster is an internationally known physician and researcher who has devoted his career to discovering safer and more effective therapies for pain and addictions.

“We are thrilled that a physician with the skills and background of Dr. Webster has agreed to join the PainScript team to help us build the PainScript Platform,” said Dan Cohen, CEO of PainScript and President of Optimus Healthcare Services. “He has a unique expertise in pain management and substance use disorder (SUD) treatment, with the skills and background to enhance our platform’s focus on helping physicians and patients be able to adhere to a treatment protocol.”

“As an initial member of the PainScript Scientific Advisory Board, chaired by Dr. Jeff Gudin, a role I will continue, I worked with some of the finest physicians in pain management and SUD treatment in the country in the development of the PainScript clinical library that forms the basis of the clinical information physicians receive from their patients each day,” said Dr. Webster. “Now I will add duties as Principal Investigator for future PainScript clinical trials and medical oversight as PainScript moves into a new area of chronic patient treatment in the months ahead.”

Following the completion of its final beta trial test phase, PainScript also announces today the commencement of its initial outreach to physician offices as the product enters its commercial launch. “I am confident my colleagues will respond well to the PainScript offering. It is a program for physicians, designed by physicians and it is a very user-friendly platform that has the potential to improve health outcomes,” added Dr. Webster.

About Dr. Lynn Webster

In addition to his new role with PainScript, Dr. Webster is a Senior Fellow, Center for U.S. Policy (CUSP). Like PainScript, CUSP has an interest in conducting research to improve access to, and outcomes for, people with substance use disorders. Dr. Webster lectures extensively, has authored more than 300 academic publications, and has conducted hundreds of clinical trials.

Dr. Webster earned his Doctorate of Medicine from the University of Nebraska and completed his residency in the University of Utah’s Department of Anesthesiology. He is board certified in anaesthesiology, pain medicine, and addiction medicine.

A senior editor of Pain Medicine, Dr. Webster serves as a peer reviewer of several professional journals and is a National Institute of Health grant reviewer.

He is a past president of the American Academy of Pain Medicine (AAPM). Dr. Webster is the author of The Painful Truth: What Chronic Pain Is Really Like and Why It Matters to Each of Us (Oxford University Press) and co-producer of the video documentary, "The Painful Truth," that has aired on Public Broadcasting stations throughout the United States. He lives in Salt Lake City, Utah with his wife.

About PainScript

PainScript (www.painscript.com) is a medical treatment compliance platform, which is focused on creating a personalized pathway to support chronic care interventions for patients suffering from pain, and opioid and other substance use disorders (SUD). The technology on which this SaaS platform is based has been clinically validated through nine (9) different published and peer-reviewed clinical trials. PainScript's solution is accessible and user-friendly, utilizing a digital platform to automate daily, evidence-based telehealth monitoring interventions for physicians and patients. This approach is designed to effectively improve patient compliance with treatment protocols, leading to better health outcomes and a reduction in related healthcare costs.

The platform enables daily contact between scheduled therapy treatments, which clinical evidence suggests results in greater adherence to treatment protocols. This improved adherence, in turn, leads to an enhanced health benefit. PainScript's HIPAA compliant platform adopts a "concierge medicine" approach, allowing for real-time doctor-patient interactions, remote monitoring and communication, appointment scheduling and an early warning of treatment complications. Near-term additions to the platform include AI/ML analytics and Electronic Healthcare Record (EHR) transcription.

About Optimus

Optimus Healthcare Services is focused on creating a network of innovative healthcare companies that advance clinical research, disease management and improve physician/patient interactions. A prime focus will include acquiring controlling interests in a variety of healthcare-related businesses.
