Writers in Residence

Spring 2022

Circleville JCF Cohort
For the 49,000 youth confined in a juvenile facility in the US.

For the 2,200 youth confined in a juvenile facility in Ohio.

These youth have been separated from family and friends. Many of them don’t feel seen, heard, or understood.

Their creative writing in this text rewrites the stereotypes and biases of a juvenile in detention.

This is for them.
Mission

TEACH.
We teach creative writing to youth who are incarcerated.

EMPOWER.
We empower our residents’ voices.

ASSIST.
We assist in their re-entry.
JUSTICE. We believe in creating an environment where justice becomes visible, where restoration from wrong is possible, where people are seen as more than their worst moments, where people can create a future not doomed to repeat the past.

EMPOWERMENT. We believe that our residents can build their self-esteem, resilience, and power through working on their writing, their reflection, their communication, through the creative writing workshop experience.

DIGNITY. We believe that our residents deserve to discover and recognize their own dignity and self-worth through our creative writing workshops. We also believe that if we respect ourselves, our residents, and our student volunteers then we successfully lead by example.

COMMUNITY. We believe in the power of community. This means that we continually welcome and accept our residents into our communities because they belong to an environment that promotes individuality and empowerment, especially upon re-entry. We also believe in the creation of a collaborative atmosphere that amplifies all voices together in a spirit of mutuality and kindness.

RELATIONSHIPS. We believe in fostering genuine, strong, and long-lasting relationships as well as walking with our residents as they navigate the path to re-entry.

Impact

To understand our impact on our residents, we survey them at every creative writing workshop. These surveys give us quantitative and qualitative data so we can provide our residents with a high-quality program experience.

Our Creative Writing Workshop occurs in spring and fall seasons for 12-16 weeks. Each session runs for 60-90 minutes either in-person or remotely via Zoom or Teams and consists of 10-15 residents, 5-7 student volunteers, and 1 teaching artist. Then, we publish, showcase, and distribute chapbooks filled with our residents’ creative writing inside juvenile facilities, on campuses, and throughout the local communities to raise awareness about the juvenile justice system.

Dear reader,

We were really amazed at just how much the youth opened up to us, especially in a short amount of time together. We would talk about the dreams we had not only for ourselves but for our children and families too, and the communities filled with people and places that helped create who we are today. Everyone was motivated to contribute and support each other throughout the program.

For example, one of the creative writing workshops that sticks out to us the most occurred in week 4 when we discussed our parents and we realized that while they may have raised us, we don't have to be the same as them. Simple as it may sound, some of us had never confronted this idea directly until then. Moments like these were responsible for the great poetry that came out of the juvenile facility this spring because the youth who were there really worked for it.

The residents’ high-level of perseverance, their innate ability to continue living despite everything in front of them and behind them, is an attitude that we saw reflected in a lot of the residents and in the poem “Life is Fine” by Langston Hughes: “I could've died for love—/But for livin’ I was born,” which inspired this chapbook’s title. Despite whatever hardships they had faced, the youth had dreams and hopes for something out of their lives; they all refused to die because for living they were born, and they are going to make something out of that life they were given. Otherwise, they wouldn’t have come to our sessions, and they wouldn’t have written the poetry and prose that they did.

I am a very handsome man.
Fun
Intelligent
Funny
Short
Where you are doesn't tomorrow.
I like a lot of food.
Do I want to be here?
Be your truest self, no one else.
Just let your heart take you.

Untitled

AA

I am tall, skinny, intelligent, helpful, caring and loving
I'm lost then I'm found
Love is like a car ride, are you going to go on a road trip?
Life is a roller coaster
Some things are better left unsaid
Watch me

Hyper, Handsome, Respectful

JS

Life is hard never give up
Eating food everyday gets you healthy
Brotherly love is a strong bond
Follow your dreams till the end
Can you overcome the struggle?

TL

I am a very handsome man
I am a very smart man
I am a happy person, sometimes
I am a responsible person, always
I am a respectful person, always
I am a funny person, creatively
I am a creative man, mind wise
Do I like to educate others?
I use my humor to fit in.

Life is a mess
Eat big, get big
Cold heart, warm body
The strong is not physical, but is mentally prepared
Love is a beautiful lie. death and despair is a painful truth

I Am a Good Person overall
EK

Life
I will never sell a dream

Food
I will eat a lot of food

Love
I won’t trust no one who’s fake

Advice
Always take your shot at life

Questions
Are you leaving or are you riding?

AK

I am funny, hyper, dumb, chunky, respectful and fun.

Life is full of many mistakes
Always be yourself, not someone else
Life is like a puzzle book
Loyalty is the key to everything
We want food, please and thanks

My Neighborhood Life

AC

I am from listening to music to cope with pain
And barbeques for fun and games
Where hot dogs are cooked and made in a park on a beautiful day
I am from going to a Bengals game on a Sunday night to hoping nothing bad has happened when you’re here and seeing siren lights.
I am from neighborhoods, but you can be and accomplish anything you want.

I am from where you see crimes getting made.
I am from the smell from the drugs in the air.
I am from the sound of cars driving by and gunshots.
Growing Star

AA

I am from a quiet neighborhood where it smelled like fresh cut grass and you can hear and see brand new corvettes.
I am from a nice house surrounded by nice homes of all sizes
I am from where you talk with your friends and family and play call of duty
I am headed to an even bigger house where I can work out, meditate, sleep, and pray with a big family helping the future be better than me.

Who I Am?

JB

I am from riding bmx and skateboards til it was dark.
I am from the smell and sound of flowing water and loud traffic.
I am from the sound of ambulances and police sirens all day from overdoses and accidents.
I am from Kings highway and all the tourist locations.

Lifestyle

AK

I am from where you see the streetlights on and don’t care
I am from where you see tweaked walking around where you never know what they’re up to
I am from where you smell drugs and garbage
I am from where you hear loud cars and police chasing people that were fighting
I am from Kings highway

JM

I am from where my dogs play in the backyard while I cut the grass, looking over to see my daughter putting sand in her mouth from her sand pit.
I am from where taking care of my daughter is all I long for.
I am from where making good memories and eating ice cream with my daughter.

Not to grow up so fast
Not to be a follower, be a leader
I Am What I Am
JH

I am from poverty, where you don't really know who to trust.
I am from a broken home, where all you can smell is drugs and see needles.
I am from a place where you hear gunshots, police sirens, and dogs.
I am from a place that doesn't define me.
I am from a place with no parents and I manage to get a meal.
I am from where I am.

How to cook, drive, love, pursue my dreams,
how to lose, handle situations,
how to be better as a person,
how to raise a kid.

Hey,
I thought that you could maybe teach me how to be resilient, strong. How to love.
I thought that you could maybe teach me how to not give up when things get hard. I thought that you could teach me that it's okay to allow yourself to fail to pick yourself back up.
I thought you could maybe teach me not to have so much hate in your heart. I thought that maybe you can teach me it's not okay to be neglected.
I thought that maybe you could teach me to not allow depression to be your best friend. I thought that maybe you could teach me how to strive to be a better person each day and learn from your mistakes.

Hey Chubs,

It's okay to go through struggles but if you keep trying, you'll make it.
Just keep helping your family and try to make it out of brokism.
Hey, I thought that maybe you can teach me how to be kind and enjoy my childhood. To not be in the streets and to not have me in an environment where I don’t feel safe to play on the porch.

Hey, I thought that maybe you could teach me how to be a man and how to be the perfect father figure for my kids to come and how not to be in and out of a child’s life. Having them wonder when they’re going to see their parents again.

Hey, I thought that you can maybe teach me how to be a kid and not have to rely on a gun to keep me safe because of the decisions I made beforehand. Maybe teach me how to be a successful employee/businessman so I wouldn’t have to sell drugs to be my main source of income. As well as teach me to be a better leader. So, I could’ve taught my friends that went to an early grave to choose a different path instead of the one which let them 6 feet under.

You may see me cry
But the tears will be of happiness
You may see me sigh
But that will be of relief
You may see me exhausted
But that’s because I’m trying
You may see me reaching out
But that’s because I really need it
You may see me stressing
But that’s because I’m being pushed
You may see me as a bad person
But that’s because you don’t know
You may see me struggling
But that’s because life is hard

Hey, I wish you could teach me to rely on school on sports and not the streets. I wish I was not so impulsive and more of a humble beast.
Hey, I thought maybe you could teach me that life doesn’t always have to be so chaotic and exciting and that it is okay to be bored. Also, how to stop and think about your choices because some decisions I’ve made have had an impact in my life and if I would’ve stopped for a second to think about my choices and how my choices will affect me. I could’ve avoided a lot of pain I’ve caused to myself and others.

But I will not be sad
I’ll put my hands up put the gun down
I’ll have my toes curled and my feet straight We’ll have our struggles in life but we won’t give up

You may see me cry but I will never bend or fold
You may see me cry but I am not weak
You may see me cry because sometimes it’s okay to cry

You may see me cry but that don’t mean I’m weak
You may see the worst in me but that don’t mean I’m bad
You may see as a criminal but I’ve overcome more than your average Joe
So, I see a warrior road to riches, here I go!

You may see me cry, you may see me falter, in this life that we live, can’t get this weight off my shoulders.

One moment we’re alive, the next we are dead, when shall we realize the beauty in our bitter end.

Life asked death, “why do people love me but hate you?”
Death said, “Because you are a beautiful lie, and I am a painful truth.”

The strong is not the one who overcomes people with his strength, but the strong is the one who controls himself while in anger.

Dear older me,
I'm proud of you for accomplishing
Being one of the more successful business-Man in sales, man. I'm also proud of you for buying your mom dukes the mansion you wanted to buy her.
Dear younger me,
I'm proud of you for realizing everybody ain't real and it's off the choices you made changed me and got me where I'm at today. I Love you Forever, demon!

For my people that supports me and care for me
For my family that got my back and don't give up on me
For me being the best guy I can be

My emotions were not allowed to be shown
And if they were you had to, say it was joy

Dear Mariyon,
You’re still learning, still becoming a man
And I’m sorry your life was so tragic
At a young age, but I promise it’ll get Better.

I’m also sorry you have to experience jail to open up your eyes because if it wasn’t for jail you’d probably be dead. I’m sorry, but don’t you be because I already went through it for you.

Untitled

My hands were told to be up to protect yourself
My body was told it must be elastic to pain and always get back to my regular state
My emotions were not allowed to show so you won’t seem weak but it’s okay to show your emotions and express your feelings

Untitled
AA

My hands were told to be a weapon
My body was told it must be a vest to the shot
My emotions were not allowed to show but I am just a laid back, relaxed, chilled person

My hands were told to be used right
My body was told it must never bend or fold
My emotions were not allowed to come to light but what’s in the dark must come to light

This is for my people who gave up a mind is a terrible thing to waste
This is for me

Dear Mariyon,
You’re still learning, still becoming a man
And I’m sorry your life was so tragic
At a young age, but I promise it’ll get Better.

I’m also sorry you have to experience jail to open up your eyes because if it wasn’t for jail you’d probably be dead. I’m sorry, but don’t you be because I already went through it for you.
You may see me cry but with every tear comes a laugh of joy
You may see me cry

My hands were told to be tools
My body was told it must be a temple
My emotions were told to be a safe, locked up and only I know the code but my safe has been cracked, the code has been exposed

This is for my west side people who taught me that you can’t trust the people you call your friends
That our community is not like other people’s community
This is for my Westside people
This is for Shiesty and that who would slime their own family out for money
This is for me
I had to teach myself the ins and outs of life and for nights I went without food and water
I am better than what people think I am

This is for my people who stay strong
This is for my people who loyalty never wavered during tough times
This is for my people who lost loved ones to the community but never lost their love in the community
This is for my people who learn to make money from a not so good hustle
This is for my people who don’t judge the way others grieve for their fallen
This is for the community that made me for all the people who passed in for their mothers persevering and staying strong for the beggars because they continue to prove people wrong for me to continue to stay strong while locked up

To Ones I Care About
Be yourself.
I love you and would do anything I could for You Y’all could never do anything to make me change, but I appreciate y’all even though y’all gave up on me, but all is well, carry on.

To Ones Who don’t know me
I’m trying to do right; I swear it’s no one to believe anymore for people I love, I miss so much in so many people, but I can’t be happy 😊 Whose here? remember all great moments

To ones Who wanna kill me
Be my guest LOL
Because I’m going to do it when the times
Right anyway
Ha
Ha
You lose 😊
Thank You to my Younger Self

JH

Sometimes I get sad thinking about the things we been through, life was hard and still is, I’m sorry that I didn’t know how to communicate back then, I’m sorry for not reaching out and asking for help when I needed it the most. I strive every day to become a better person and trust me it works depression is not my best friend anymore I’m leaning how to be happy now So, thank you for always being here for me through every difficult situation b/c it made me stronger 😊 thank you for not committing suicide.
