Writers in Residence

Spring 2022
Heidelberg University Cohort
For the 49,000 youth confined in a juvenile facility in the US.

For the 2,200 youth confined in a juvenile facility in Ohio.

These youth have been separated from family and friends. Many of them don’t feel seen, heard, or understood.

Their creative writing in this text rewrites the stereotypes and biases of a juvenile in detention.

This is for them.
Mission

TEACH.
We teach creative writing to youth who are incarcerated.

EMPOWER.
We empower our residents' voices.

ASSIST.
We assist in their re-entry.
JUSTICE. We believe in creating an environment where justice becomes visible, where restoration from wrong is possible, where people are seen as more than their worst moments, where people can create a future not doomed to repeat the past.

EMPOWERMENT. We believe that our residents can build their self-esteem, resilience, and power through working on their writing, their reflection, their communication, through the creative writing workshop experience.

DIGNITY. We believe that our residents deserve to discover and recognize their own dignity and self-worth through our creative writing workshops. We also believe that if we respect ourselves, our residents, and our student volunteers then we successfully lead by example.

COMMUNITY. We believe in the power of community. This means that we continually welcome and accept our residents into our communities because they belong to an environment that promotes individuality and empowerment, especially upon re-entry. We also believe in the creation of a collaborative atmosphere that amplifies all voices together in a spirit of mutuality and kindness.

RELATIONSHIPS. We believe in fostering genuine, strong, and long-lasting relationships as well as walking with our residents as they navigate the path to re-entry.

Impact

To understand our impact on our residents, we survey them at every creative writing workshop.

These surveys give us quantitative and qualitative data so we can provide our residents with a high-quality program experience.

Our Creative Writing Workshop occurs in spring and fall seasons for 12-16 weeks. Each session runs for 60-90 minutes either in-person or remotely via Zoom or Teams and consists of 10-15 residents, 5-7 student volunteers, and 1 teaching artist. Then, we publish, showcase, and distribute chapbooks filled with our residents’ creative writing inside juvenile facilities, on campuses, and throughout the local communities to raise awareness about the juvenile justice system.

Dear reader,

When we look back on our experiences, we remain grateful and honored for the chance to interact with the residents who trusted us and felt enough comfortable in the Creative Writing Workshop to share their stories on how life impacted where they are now. It was amazing to see these youth come out of their shells as we progressed through the program. One of our favorite moments this season involved music when the facilitator and the residents started talking about their favorite artists. We learned about so many new and talented musicians, and we were able to relate to each other through music. Then, another core memory that will carry with us related to sports where everyone debated about what activities are or aren’t sports. The residents were so engaged! These experiences helped the youth look at certain topics and issues from a different perspective, which is exactly what we are asking you to consider while you read this chapbook because there is a little bit of everything in here, from aspirations to raps about food, no matter the topic, the residents wrote from their hearts.

It is important to understand that the youth may not have had the opportunity to put their thoughts onto paper before this program. It is important to also realize that their contributions mean a great deal to them because it captures a lot of their thoughts that go on inside their minds that they may not feel safe saying aloud yet. The youth were able to positively express their feelings, accomplishments, and somber experiences. Our Creative Writing Workshop is a free space for the residents to release their emotions through poetry or prose.

For many of us, writing is a very positive practice of self-exploration and learning. We are thankful to have witnessed the residents learn this skill for themselves. It was truly inspiring to see how acceptance of someone’s creative works made them feel more confident and more willing to participate and share again. This experience has not only allowed us to grow as people by letting us see from different perspectives and find confidence in our abilities, but it has also taught us to be more encouraging and that the best support sometimes comes from just listening.

Playing football brightens my day
Boy give me one let me say
I will play for days

Freedom is my precious
The flag they paid for it all
Will never see home

Noodle soup good for soul
I got heartburn bad chest ache
Milk made pain vanish

Before night comes in
Every good day ends in sunset
With a good night kiss

When playing video games, there are good and bad players. One day I met a person who was very bad at the game. I decided to give him tips and teach him how to be better and more respectful during in-game matches. I felt like I was a helpful person in the gaming community.

Another time I was feeling positive power was when I “saved” a slightly hurt bird and helped protect it until it could fly again. I felt power over its life and used that to save it.
I feel the most power when I’m the one in charge of the house or the kids or everything else. Growing up I was always left alone so I had all the power in the house. I could do whatever I wanted without getting in trouble. I did this from 5 years old to 15 years old. If I wanted to walk around town at 3 AM I would walk around town.

One time when I felt powerful was when I got something that none of my brothers got and I felt like I had power over who got to play with it and when they would get to play with it but then after teasing my brothers I lost my power over that toy.

Space is simply bad for a frog ribbit

A time I felt positive power was when I got out of the youth center last time because I was ungrounded from everything because my parents thought I needed a “fresh start” and I felt in control because we were getting along and I had an opportunity to change my life for the better. Obviously that wasn’t the case considering I’m here again but everyone deserves a second chance I guess.

Me and my friends were hanging out about to order some food when 2 planes wrecked outside my house. We called the police. They hid in the plants. The pizza guy brought bottled water and pop with caffeine. After we finished eating, we went shopping. We bought shoes and hair dye. When we got home we watched TV and played the game system.

One time me and a high school baseball player were playing baseball with no cap and that is no cap.

My brother said he's gonna
Wake me up early and I told
Him you got me bent don't
Even bother. The next day
He told me he's gonna wear
My shoes to school I told
Him you got me messed
Up wear your own shoes

Smack ‘em wit the pistol left his forehead
Wit a knot ride for my dawg like
Like bike pegs try to run
Then both legs get shot
Neva’ changed up on the gang always
Kept it 100 if you my brother then I Got you and you can call me I’m
Coming I gotta I gotta make it out the city I came down with that money

Wind chilled
Windbreakers shrieked
Sneakers squeaked
On the court
Hands were sweating
Acing the ball
rackets slipping
Hike the ball was snapped
I hit my block and started
my route which was a right
angle he faked it to the wide out and threw to me I caught it and took off CB got low but
I got lower and smoked him

I was told there was a boxing match with me that night. I was not prepared.
The guy was 23. He had been boxing for 4 years. I had only been fighting for a year.
Thought I was going to lose but I put bruuh on his flat. I beat him by 3 points.
He was my weight, little shorter than me.

Mom. Everything is okay.

That hatched out of a cocoon, sometimes
I want to smack you with my shoe.
But I don't want to get hit by you.

A Letter to Her
ZC

When I talk to my girl I pretend to act like I am okay and that I am not hurting inside and that is why I always have a smile on my face and how I really feel about her and let her know how I'm feeling and my thoughts.

When I talk to my family I pretend to be happy
so they don't have to worry about me or my feelings.
Thoughts and Truths

You may see yourself as small and weak,
I see you as big and strong.
You see yourself as fat,
I see you as the perfect weight.
You think you’re ugly,
I know you’re beautiful.
You think you’re stupid,
But I think you’re very smart.

When you donate to Writers in Residence

Your contribution sustains our Creative Writing Workshop with teaching artists, writing materials, snacks, and chapbooks.

Your support assists our residents who are reentering into their communities with limited access to social services including housing, employment, food, health care, and education.

Your generosity educates our local communities and government officials about the juvenile justice system's traumatic effect on our youth.
